

- First Page
- United States
- Europe
- United Kingdom
- Gulf / Middle East
- South Asia
- Pakistan
- Philippines /SE Asia
- World
- India

Home | About Us | Advertising | Archives | Subscribe | Site Map | Contact Us

Monday, October 01 2012

OPINION

An Unsuitable Man

IF the Republican primaries and presidential campaign have taught us anything, it is that Mitt Romney is not very good at politics. Incessant gaffes, strategic missteps, a paucity of policy prescriptions and a ...

ANALYSIS

HOW TO FIX THE SCHOOLS

NO matter how quickly the Chicago Basic Staff teachers' strike ends, whether it is this afternoon or two months from now, it's not going to end well for the city's public school students. Yes, I know; that's the hoariest of cliches. But that doesn't mean it's not true ...

Nation Business Sports Chill Out

Nation

TTR Qatar signs JV with Console & Partners

TRIBUNE NEWS NETWORK

DOHA TTR Qatar has recently signed a joint venture (JV) agreement with Console & Partners, a leading Italian financial and legal international advisor, aimed at promoting business initiatives between Qatar and Italy.

At a ceremony held in Doha, Chairman of TTR Qatar Hamad al Marri and Chairman and CEO of Console & Partners Francesco Paolo Console signed on behalf of the two companies.

By the agreement, Hamad al Marri also becomes a board member of Console & Partners.

The JV will support local and Italian companies by providing consultancy on Internationalisation processes.

HRH Prince Serge of Yugoslavia, a Console & Partner board member; and Laura Bertuccioli, who will head the Qatar office of the joint venture, attended the ceremony.

Rodolfo Errore, partner of DLA Piper, an international law firm, who is the legal advisor of the JV also attended the event.

Other News Headlines

- * Microsoft launches Windows 2012, Cloud OS platform in Qatar
- * Filipino music festival on Oct 5
- * QA strengthens Islamic Studies curriculum
- * Cosmo unveils Thai cuisines

